Industry-Academia Meet

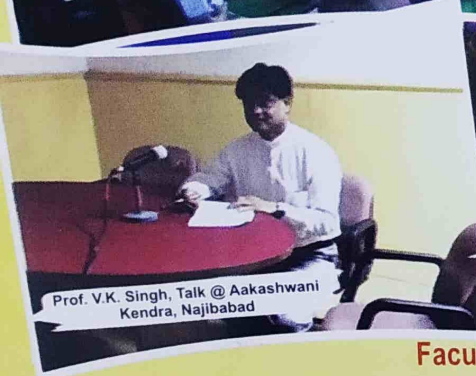

Rapid advances in technology are changing today's workspace, increasing the demand for highly skilled workers who have the knowledge to make the best use of the swiftly evolving technology. Students churned out of the static and stagnant academic system are not equipped to meet the current industry requirements and often companies have to incur additional expense (time and monetary) to train new hires. As industries look to colleges to fill job openings, institutions are feeling the pressure to update their academic system to be in tune with the industries. Also, industry-academia collaboration, the world over, is extremely limited and hasn't been harnessed to its full capacity. Hence, an urgent need to take proactive steps has been strongly felt to enhance the employability of engineering graduate workforce and make them industry ready.

The responsibility of organising the meet was given to Mr. Ashish Arya by Prof. Pankaj Madan, Dean & Head FMS.

Mountain region:-Economic Development Status of Uttarakhand

Uttarakhand is carved out from Uttar Pradesh in 2000 and no doubt it developed with rapid speed in comparison to other new separated States. The literacy rate of Uttarakhand is as high as 79.63% and Dehradun district is the biggest contributor to its literacy rate. It is also known as education hub of the state. State government focused on several economic issues like network connectivity, tourism development and entrepreneur subsidies for economic growth. Service sector of Uttarakhand is an important source of income of the state. Among these tourism sector is playing a vital role to generate income as well as employment. Employment status of Uttarakhand is improving year by year both in rural and urban areas but men employment rate is going down as compared to women employment rate in rural areas. Many researchers found the reason behind declined employment in rural areas is migration of male worker from rural to urban areas in search of better opportunity. It makes clear that in Uttarakhand, rural areas are untouched with modern facilities and employment opportunities.

State government continuously is making efforts to enhance service sector incorporating MSMEs performance with good amount of investment. Report of Ministry of MSMEs depicts the continuous growth in Uttarakhand all over districts.

Other economic activities are also showing improving picture of state development like power supply, gas connection in hill areas, bank facility in remote areas of Uttarakhand and number of schools and colleges. Growing trend of state economic activities is projecting an opportunistic state for investment.

Goods and Service Tax (GST) bill in India-

GST is an indirect tax reform levied on manufacture, sale and consumption of goods as well as services at national level. The current tax regime is riddled with indirect taxes which GST aims to subsume with a single comprehensive tax bringing all under a single umbrella. It will have two components Central GST levied by Centre and State GST levied by the states. It removes today's multi-staged tax structure. It is a "Game Changer" reform for the whole economy.

With GST, India becomes a single unified market, more revenue for government, lower tax burden for industries, lower prices for many manufactured products. As GST reaches its final stages, the historic legislation promises to unify the tax system for the nation. So while services may get more expensive, it's a mixed bag for consumers overall. Tax will impact your budget by electricity duty, stamp duty, excise duty, petroleum products will not come under GST purview. The major beneficiary of GST would be sectors like FMCG, Pharma, Automobiles and consumer durables. High inflation impact would be on telecom, banking and financial services, Air and road transport, construction and development of real estate. However, GST is a long-term strategy. Let us hope this "One nation, one Tax" proves to be Path Breaking and beneficial for common man.
